

Free walking tour for foreign tourists!!

Check this out, and join us!!

Sunday June 21st, 2009

Students of Professor Yoshihisa Matsumura's seminar at the Hannan University will plan the walking tours that you can never experience in an ordinary tour, and guide foreign tourists as volunteer activities. Joining the walking tours, you can find out new and cool attractiveness of Osaka, and experience "everyday life" or "festivities" of Osakans.

Walking tour's theme: Walking through the "Deep South" of Osaka

Tour time: 1:00PM to 4:00PM (scheduled), Sunday June 21st, 2009

Meeting place and time: Lobby of Hotel Chuo, 12:45PM

Tour's outline: The area stretching from Tennoji to Shin-Imamiya on the southern side of JR Osaka Loop Line is a home to symbolic entertainment zone of the 20th century and residential zones from before the World War II, where you can feel the real and everyday life of Osakan people. In Osaka, Dotombori and nearby areas are also known as "Minami," which means "South" in Japanese, and some refer to the area around Tennoji, further south of Minami Area, as the "Deep South" of Osaka. This area is surely the "deepest" in Osaka full of discoveries, which sometimes surprises, touches and impresses Japanese and even Osakan people. In this tour, you will simulate the everyday life in downtown Osaka, walking through the streets of "deep" Osaka.
